

BORDERLINE ARCHAEOLOGY

In Sweden, Gothenburg, for Fiona Campbell and Jonna Ulin, defending their joint PhD Dissertation, Borderline Archaeology.

Fiona on Labyrinths; Jonna on family archaeology. And performance to deal with both.

A remarkable combination

And manifested also in a great web site – where you can get the book.

This is a site that aims to bridge the gap between archaeology and performance, art and academia by exploring alternative approaches in the re-presentation of the archaeological and by investigating archaeology's potential as a mode of performative cultural production.
