NEW GUIDE TO THE DISCIPLINE

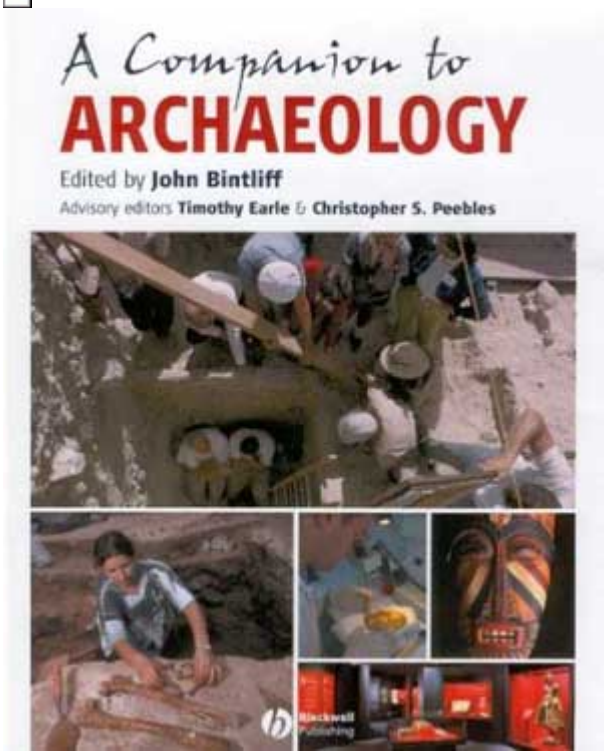
Just out – Blackwell's Companion to Archaeology.

An academic guide.



I did the chapter on politics and archaeology. The argument is the one I first made back in the 1980s, when it was deeply unfashionable, that archaeology is a contemporary project, and archaeologists don’t discover the past, they work on what is left.

Here is an earlier and longer version in pdf – [link]