

NEOLITHIC MINIATURE FIGURINES

Doug Bailey has finished his study of neolithic figurines from south east Europe – a fascinating treatment that ranges from early farmers to Barbi Dolls – a superb comparative work in visual culture. He presents a much needed correction to Maria Gimbutas's fantasy treatment. It will be published by Routledge very soon. The way archaeology needs to go.

Here are a couple of its photographs. Wonderful.

