

NORHAM STATION

I can't help but be fascinated with what is slipping from memory and becoming "history".

And the romance of the railway.

Just found a wonderful site called "Forgotten relics" – it has a page on a favorite village of mine (the castle straight out of Scott's "Marmion") on a branch line in the Scottish borders – Norham Station.

See also on Thomas the Tank, Ealing comedies and technicolor – [\[Link\]](#)