THE BALTIC, NEWCASTLE

At the Baltic Arts Center, first visit in a long while – last time it was Anthony Gormley – [Link].

This time – Anselm Keifer and his remarkable workings with memory, materiality, guilt and landscape.

I’m waiting for the fog to clear at Heathrow. Lovely winter views out over the Tyne. (Photos taken on the new iPhone with Pro HDR)

